in this singular book written during world war two bertolt brecht presents a devastating visual and lyrical attack on war under modern capitalism he takes photographs from newspapers and popular magazines and adds short lapidary verses to each in a unique attempt to understand the truth of war using mass media pictures of catastrophic bombings propaganda portraits of leading nazis scenes of unbearable tragedy on the battlefield all these images contribute to an anthology of horror from which brecht's perceptions are distilled in poems that are razor sharp, angry and direct; the result is an outstanding literary memorial to world war two and one of the most spontaneous, revealing and moving of brecht's works.

This book examines brecht's theory and method of adaptation. It first reconstructs it into a single framework using four key brechtian concepts: Fabel, Gestus, Estrangement, Effects and Historicizing. It then uses that framework to analyse four brechtian adaptations: The Tutor Don Juan, Socrates Wounded and Kriegsfibel. It argues that adaptation occupies a previously unrealised central place in brecht's thought, demonstrating that he provides us with a unique way to think about adaptation as material transformation. It concludes by describing how brecht is useful for anti-capitalist aesthetics today, because through him one can foster a new consciousness which enables better social conditions to be created. This book is practical for both theatre practitioners and artists as well as theorists.

A playwright, poet and activist, Bertolt Brecht (1898–1956) was known for his theory of the epic theater and his attempts to break down the division between high art and popular culture. He was also a committed Marxist who lived through two world wars and a global depression. Looking at Brecht's life and works through his plays, stories, poems and political essays, Philip Glahn illustrates how they trace a lifelong attempt to relate to the specific social, economic and political circumstances of the early twentieth century. Glahn reveals how Brecht upended the language and gestures of philosophers, beggars, bureaucrats, thieves, priests and workers, using them as weapons in his work. Following Brecht through the Weimar Republic, Nazism, exile and East German socialism, Glahn argues that the writer's own life became a production of history that illuminates an ongoing crisis of modern experience shaped by capitalism, nationalism and visions of social utopia. Sharp, accessible and full of pleasures, this concise biography will interest anyone who wishes to know about this pivotal modern dramatist.

At a critical point in the development of photography, this book offers an engaging, detailed and far-reaching examination of the key issues that are defining contemporary photographic culture. Photography reframed addresses the impact of radical technological, social and political change across a diverse set of photographic territories: the ontology of photography, the impact of mass photographic practice, the public display of intimate life, the current state of documentary and the political possibilities of photographic culture. These lively, accessible essays by some of the best writers in photography together go deep into the most up-to date frameworks for analysing and understanding photographic culture and shedding light on its histories photography reframed is a vital road map for anyone interested in what photography has been what it has become and where it is going
